Have some issues with Microstack Studio . I received the error message in microstack studio and found the right solution for the problem.I would like to thank you for your help. UniOP (UniPhone Office Package) is a third-party office suite for Pocket PC, Windows CE and Symbian platforms. Like Microsoft Office, it has a full word processor, a spreadsheet, a database, and a presentation and multimedia suite. In addition to those core functions, UniOP also provides a number of office productivity and business tools, including electronic note-taking, text to speech, e-mail, and fax. It was originally made available as a developer kit, and the first commercial release was in 2003. UniOP also has a number of common features, such as regular document file formats and printer drivers, that are common to other Pocket PC office suites. It is compatible with Pocket PC, Windows CE and Symbian OS, and is available for purchase on the Pocket PC market and the Symbian Store. If you are seeing this message, it means that no changes have been made to the template files. Because of this, it is safe to continue using this template. However, if this error appears when you are using an original template in your document, then you need to correct the template in order to save your document. To resolve this issue, please follow the steps below:1. In the template, the item ID of the application must be already added in the document. 2. To remove the application, please manually uncheck the application ID. If you do not want to manually remove the application, please use the 'Designer - Property' in the 'Tools - Options' menu. Here's a transcript of the error message: Microstack Studio does not have this version of UniOP Office, but you can download it from the UniOP website: . If you're not familiar with this application, you may want to visit the official website. Developer's comment: The official download does not work as the website does not provide an archive. However, the archive listed above seems 82157476af
